

June and July 2024

Warami everyone! (Welcome in Darug language)

As we reflect on the past two months at Morning Buds, we are delighted to share the many activities and achievements that have shaped our community. June and July have been vibrant with events that fostered learning, health, and connection among our children and families. From insightful Parent-Teacher Interviews to our preschoolers' important eye screening, the continued success of our recycling project, the joyous Morning Buds Reunion, and our thrilling Olympic Games event, these months have been filled with growth and celebration. Each of these experiences has contributed to the holistic development of our young learners, reinforcing the strong bonds within our Morning Buds family.

Kind regards,
Morning Buds Team

Successful Parent-Teacher Interviews

We kicked off July with our much-anticipated Parent-Teacher Interviews, a vital opportunity to connect and share insights into your child's growth and development. These meetings were a resounding success, with both teachers and parents engaging in open, thoughtful conversations about each child's progress. The partnership between home and school is crucial in supporting our children, and we are grateful for the strong collaboration that was evident during these interviews.

Morning Buds Reunion: A Heartwarming Celebration

One of the most joyous occasions of these months was the Morning Buds Reunion, where past graduates joined us for a special celebration. It was heartwarming to see familiar faces return, now older and more confident, to reconnect with their roots. The reunion was filled with laughter, memories, and a sense of belonging as our current students and alumni came together to celebrate their shared experiences at Morning Buds. The event also served as an unofficial graduation for some of our current students who will be moving on to new adventures. Seeing them ready to spread their wings is both bittersweet and a proud moment for all of us.

Preschoolers' Eye Screening

Our preschoolers took an important step in their health journey with the annual eye screening. This initiative ensures that our children's vision is on track, and any concerns are addressed early. The screening was met with curiosity and courage by our young ones, and we're pleased to report that the process went smoothly. For those who require follow-ups, our team is here to support you in taking the next steps.

Recycling Project: A Lasting Impact

Our recycling project has continued to flourish, becoming an integral part of life at Morning Buds. We've been inspired by the enthusiasm and commitment shown by our children and families in embracing sustainable practices. From sorting recyclables to creating art from reused materials, our little environmentalists are learning the importance of caring for our planet. This project has not only fostered environmental awareness but has also strengthened our sense of community, as families actively participate and share their own recycling practices at home. The ongoing success of this initiative is a testament to the powerful impact of collective effort, and we are excited to see how this concept continues to grow in our young learners' lives.

Morning Buds Olympic Games

we hosted our very own Morning Buds Olympic Games, drawing inspiration from the 2024 Paris Olympic Games. This day was dedicated to fun, fitness, and friendly competition, as the children participated in various activities, from relay races to obstacle courses. Their enthusiasm, teamwork, and sportsmanship shone through, making the event a fantastic way to promote physical activity and a sense of global connection. Families cheered on the young athletes, celebrating the spirit of the Olympics and making it a truly memorable day for everyone involved.
